

International School on Dynamical Systems and Applications Third meeting of TWMA

Monastir, Tunisia

September 06-10, 2019

This International School on Dynamical Systems and Application addresses to Master's Degree and Ph.D. students in order to improve their mathematical skill and training.

It aims at giving a broad overview on the field of dynamical systems with special emphasis in applications. It is a good opportunity to enable collaboration and exchanges between young scientists and experts in the field of dynamical systems since it constitutes an exciting field of current research in mathematics. It also aims to motivate mathematician researchers in general and women in particular who are ambitious.

It is organized by Tunisian Women Mathematicians' Association (TWMA)
